Introduction

Symbiosis Institute of Health Sciences organized a session dated 21st August 2020 (Friday) from 11:15pm to 1:30 pm, where we got the opportunity to attend a talk session by Dr. Abhijit Sinha Roy on "Effective business communication in healthcare".

We had in total of 457 participants who attended this session.

About the speaker

- Dr. Abhijit Sinha Roy is a pediatrician specialized in neonatology.
- A Board Advisor in Healthcare Management.
- An Author of many books in Healthcare Communication and Telemedicine.
- Former Medical Officer of Fortis Hospital, Bangalore
- Held the capacity of Chief of Medical and Health Services at SAIL and CMO of State Government Health Insurance
- Former CEO at SPACE Telemedicine organization in Chennai
- A visiting faculty for Communication in Healthcare in Annamalai University
- Presently he is a Medical Advisor to a non-profit hospital chain catering primarily to middle-income groups.

Topics Covered

1. Change of attitude / behaviour- which is expected from a healthcare professional
2. Mental preparation- that how the doctor need to be prepared before facing any customers.
3. The knowledge about where, when and how to communicate with the patient being a healthcare professional.

Points Discussed

- It is important for the doctor to be honest, ethical and updated towards his work.
- The Doctor/ Healthcare Professionals should be able to empathize with the patient and this would help in creating an unexpected emotion which would build trust in patients mind.
- Technology is neutral. Though we face some problem related to it but it also helps us in doing an effective work. For example, how telemedicine is useful in this pandemic situation and keeping the patient in touch with the doctors.
- The ways in which a doctor can prepare himself to carry out effective communication is by enquiring the patient's background and overcoming language barrier through which the doctor can understand the patient properly. Discussing with junior colleagues and studying the latest reports and case sheets in which doctor will be updated about the patient.
- Where and how to communicate is done by being attentive to the patient, maintaining a good eye contact during the conversation, being empathetic towards the patient. The doctor should be open for patient's questions and clear out their confusion. Respecting patients religious faith and should leave no room for ambiguity.
- Common reasons for suing:-
  - Lack of communication
  - Behaved rudely and in a very casual behaviour to the patient
  - If a patient is not satisfied by the doctor and gives a feedback regarding it and the doctor behaved very unfriendly about that situation.
  - Record keeping is not well maintained as per hospitals norms
  - Indiscriminate use of medicines and lack of knowledge and expertise.

Conclusion

The session was quite an interactive and very informational. The points and the discussion led us to different aspects which we can apply in our practical ways while we will be working as a healthcare professional in the hospitals and various other companies.
