Dear Esteemed Delegates,

It is with great pleasure that I invite you to the SYMPSYCH Conference 2025!

The global rise in mental illnesses and other non-communicable diseases (NCDs) highlights the urgent need to rethink our healthcare systems. Traditional, siloed approaches often neglect the intricate connections between mental and physical health. Behavioural health sciences offer a holistic framework by addressing human behaviour and its link to psychological well-being and physical health, emphasising preventive measures over the conventional symptomatic management of mental illnesses and NCDs.

Education plays a key role in driving this shift. By fostering critical thinking and interdisciplinary collaboration, we can transition from illness-focused models to person-centred care. SYMPSYCH 2025 embraces this vision, uniting diverse perspectives to integrate behavioural sciences into healthcare while emphasising community engagement and preventive care.

This conference serves as a platform for transformative discussions, fostering collaboration to redefine health systems, inspire holistic solutions, and empower communities to thrive. Together, we champion prevention, education, and integrated care for a healthier, more connected future.

SYMPSYCH 2025 is designed to bring together professionals from diverse disciplines, including mental health, education, research, law, and humanities, alongside key stakeholders such as NGOs, industry practitioners, policymakers, multinational companies, educational institutions, and students.

Let's work together to make this conference a catalyst for meaningful change!

SYMPSYCH

ignite | innovate | impact

SYMPSYCH 2025 Conference will focus on the theme “Navigating the Paradigms – Mental Health to Behavioral Health Sciences; Classroom to Community; Illness to Wellness”, creating a platform for dialogue and collaboration to explore the intersections between behavioural health, education, and community well-being.

SYMPSYCH 2025 will address three key paradigms.

1. Mental health to Behavioral health, expanding the scope to include behaviours, emotions, and cognitive processes that influence overall well-being.
2. From Classroom to Community, emphasizing the importance of bridging educational settings with real-world applications to promote collective well-being.
3. Transitioning from an Illness to a Wellness perspective, advocating for a holistic, person-centred approach that integrates biological, psychological, social, and cultural factors, with an emphasis on assistive practices.

SYMPSYCH 2025 will begin with four parallel pre-conference workshops on key topics such as psychological first aid, setting up mental health services in schools, positive parenting, and expressive therapeutic techniques for healing.

After the workshops, a plenary session will be conducted. This will be followed by two parallel tracks. Track I will focus on the theme “Care Beyond Cure: Behavioral Science for Holistic Wellbeing.” Track II will address the theme “Education in Action: Bridging the Classroom and Community”. The second day of the conference will include oral and poster presentations, followed by the inaugural ceremony, keynote addresses, plenary sessions, symposiums, and panel discussions focused on key trends related to the conference theme. The event will conclude with a valedictory session.

The conference will underscore the importance of creating research that expands beyond the limited scope of “mental health.” It will highlight the need for research that bridges theoretical curricula with practical applications, ensuring that educational insights are translated into tangible benefits for community well-being. Moreover, there will be a focus on shifting research priorities from the traditional illness model to a broader understanding that includes well-being, resilience, and proactive health strategies. This shift is essential for developing more effective, holistic solutions that address the full spectrum of human health and wellness.

Unique Features:

- Global expert sessions that will provide cross-disciplinary insights.
- Integrating law, policy, culture, social identity, and other behavioural health domains offers deep insights into the collective impact on behaviour and the mind-body connection.
- Current trends in the management of behavioural health disorders.
- Interactive and engaging workshops on real-world applicable skills for diverse groups such as individuals, schools, and parents.
- Features diverse events, including translational research, poster presentations, panel discussions, symposiums, and interactive workshops.
- Networking opportunities to build meaningful connections.

SYMPSYCH 2025 promises to be an enriching event, pushing the boundaries of traditional approaches to behavioural health and fostering meaningful conversations.
